Have you ever wondered how our legal system works?
Class is in session! The People's Law School at Casper College is back by popular demand.

The People's Law School is open to anyone interested in learning about the judicial system. Legal topics will be addressed by local police officers, judges, and attorneys in their areas of practice, including: history and structure of the court system, bankruptcy law, domestic relations/family law, criminal defense/prosecution, and personal injury litigation. "Dean" Michael Shickich himself will teach the class on personal injury litigation.

Classes will be held at Casper College on Wednesday nights from 7 to 8:30 beginning February 5th through March 5th. To sign up, just send in a Community Education Registration Form and payment of your registration fee (only $27) to Casper College Enrollment Services, 125 College Drive, Casper, WY 82601. You can find the registration form online at http://www.caspercollege.edu/community_ed/downloads/CERegistrationForm.pdf. The registration form is also on page 2 of the Spring 2014 Continuing Education catalog you received in the mail.

The People's Law School is sponsored by the Wyoming Trial Lawyers Association (WTLA). All speakers donate their time, and the WTLA covers the cost of providing the course materials.

For more information, or to schedule an interview with "Dean" Shickich about the People's Law School, call Michael or Wendy at the Injury Law Firm at 266-LAWS (5297).
